A MARITIME CHRISTMAS WITH THE RANKIN SISTERS

The Rankin Sisters celebrates the Christmas holidays with a soiree of yuletide cheer. Filled with the sisters' trademark Celtic-influenced vocals, this concert tour draws from their delightful Christmas album, Do You Hear. The concert will include Angels We Have Heard on High with its luscious harmonies and Oh Night of Joy and Gladness, sung a cappella, which the sisters performed in Mabou's local church choir as children. Raylene, whose angelic voice succinctly captures the song's blend of passion and solemnity, faithfully performs the traditional prayer Ave Maria. The Coventry Carol is beautifully rendered with Heather's lead vocal finesse and emotional honesty. In concert, it is often an audience favourite. Cookie's up-tempo treatment of I Wonder as I Wander and the sisters' playful rendition of Let it Snow, showcase the more festive aspects of the holiday season. Joining Raylene, Heather and Cookie on this Christmas tour are some of the Maritime's most talented musicians and their longtime friends. The Rankin Family's drummer and percussionist, Scott Ferguson, re-joins the sisters, along with pianist, Michael Creber, guitarist, Clarence Deveau, bassist, Bruce Jacobs, and cousin Mairi Rankin on the fiddle.
