Chilliwack School of Performing Arts presents

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

The classic "tale as old as time" tells of Belle, a young woman in a provincial town, and the Beast, who is really a young prince trapped under the spell of an enchantress. If the Beast can learn to love and be loved, the curse will end and he will be transformed into his former self. But time is running out. If the Beast does not learn his lesson soon, he and his household will be doomed for all eternity.

GRIEF DREAMS – MORNING PRESENTATION

Presented by Joshua Black, MA (with special guest Jade Karling Black, MA)

The topic of dreams after loss (grief dreams) has been surprisingly overlooked in academic literature, which has hindered the support for the bereaved of all ages. Many of the bereaved have reported that they keep their dream experiences hidden from others due to the judgements people have pertaining to such dreams. When the bereaved do gain the courage to share them or ask questions on the topic, it is common for those who support them to not know how to respond. What do we make of these dreams and how does it apply to one's grief?

This talk will focus on discussing the top 10 things I have learned from researching dreams of the deceased (human loss and pet loss).

GRIEF DREAMS – AFTERNOON WORKSHOP

Presented by Joshua Black, MA (with special guest Jade Karling Black, MA)

This workshop will discuss what led me to this field of research (for my MA and PhD) and I will review the research on grief dreams, including my own studies. Research I have conducted includes investigating dream content and theme changes in a dream journal, common themes in dreams of the deceased, and variables that predict recalling dreams of the deceased. My PhD research on grief dreams has focused on an adult population that have suffered the death of a romantic partner/spouse, pet dog or cat, and a baby through miscarriage/still birth. Additionally, I will discuss conversations about such dreams that I have had with the bereaved and those who support them. There will be a focus in this workshop on learning how to explore these dreams with clients in ways that can facilitate the processing of their grief in a safe space. This is not about dream interpretation, but about what questions to ask based on the imagery. By asking the right questions, the bereaved can connect their dream imagery to waking life, and can open dialogue on concerns or comforts that come from the experience.
