

WINGS, SYMBOLS & MYTHS

Exhibit on from November 2 to December 10 2022

Variations on winged creatures occur in many cultures and are among the most used mythological images used by artists worldwide. In this exhibit, the artists of the Chilliwack Visual Artist's Association present their interpretations of this intriguing, multi-faceted theme.

Man has always looked to symbols to represent an object, a function, or a process. Symbols created by the ancients often cloaked in mystery and the supernatural, walked hand in hand with cultural myths handed down from generation to generation.

A stunning story steeped in Kwantlen tradition comes to Chilliwack!

Indigenous Storytellers spin the Kwantlen First Nation tale of Th'owxiya: The Hungry Feast Dish in a beautiful piece of children's theatre. On November 12, Axis Theatre will sweep you away into the legend of Th'owxiya, an old hungry spirit that catches a young mouse stealing from her. This tale weaves traditional Coast Salish and Stó:lō music, dance, and masks together to create an unforgettable adventure that will show you how mesmerizing story telling can be.

Th'owxiya inhabits a feast dish filled with the most tempting foods from around the world, a temptation to anyone that crosses her. When Kw'at'el, a hungry mouse, takes a piece of cheese from Th'owxiya, they are caught. To appease the ogress, Kw'at'el must bring two children for her to eat before the second moon rises or Th'owxiya will eat Kw'at'el's whole family. With the help of Spa:th (Bear), Sqeweqs (Raven), and Sasq'ets (Sasquatch), Kw'at'el embarks on a journey to earn Th'owxiya's forgiveness.

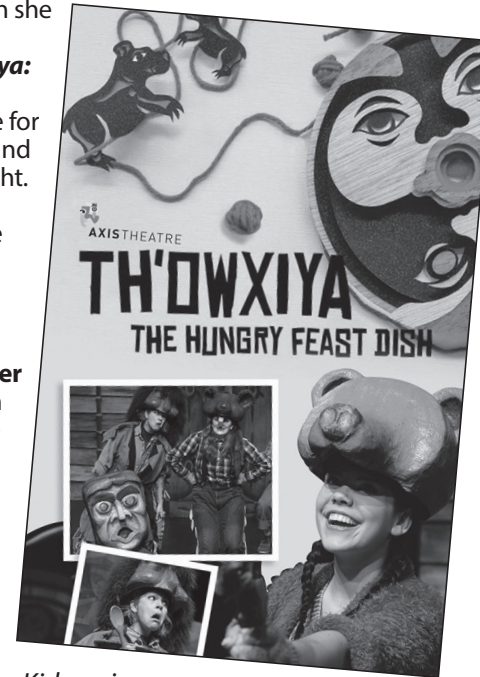

The history of Th'owxiya for the Kwantlen people is deep. She is a mythological being that has been used to teach children to listen and to not venture off alone or else she may take them. Although she is scary, she also has the power to bring good fortune to anyone who has seen her. Th'owxiya: The Hungry Feast Dish brings those lessons forward, teaching us about being responsible for our own mistakes, forgiving those mistakes, and finding the courage to stand up for what's right.

Come enjoy this truly incredible performance and immerse yourself in the legend of Th'owxiya!

Th'owxiya: The Hungry Feast Dish is coming to the Chilliwack Cultural Centre on November 12, 2022 at 2:00 pm. Tickets are $12, and can be purchased at the Centre Box Office, online at www.chilliwackculturalcentre.ca, or by calling 604-391-SHOW(7469).
